WE NOW HAVE AN OFFICIAL NAME

If our readers have been somewhat confused as to the actual name of the National rapeseed organization established in Canada some three months ago, the editors and printers have had an equally difficult time. We tried first for "Rapeseed Council of Canada" and then for "Canadian Rapeseed Institute" but the words "Council" and "Institute" in the name were unacceptable to the authorities.

We are now authorized to designate ourselves the "Rapeseed Association of Canada" and an application for Letters Patent has been submitted to Ottawa. A Federal charter should be forthcoming within a few weeks.

In the absence of an official name, the organization has not been standing still. Enrolment of members has been proceeding apace and efforts to increase the number of members in the three categories will be redoubled in the weeks ahead. The Chairman of the Executive Committee and Chairmen of various Standing Committees are hard at work on plans and proposals to put into effect programs aimed at carrying out the objectives of the Association.

The Executive Committee will meet in Vancouver, B. C. on July 21, 1967, to review these programs and set some of them in motion.
